Japanese Wine Spec Sheet

Vineyard:	Kisvin. Inc.
Founded:	2013
Vineyard Notes:	Kisvin winery is the work of 37 year-old winemaker Mayu Saito. Kisvin currently farms 14 grapes on 5 hectares of vineyards near Koshu city. Grape varieties include international varieties such as Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Syrah and Zinfandel but also include local varieties such as Koshu. Grape cultivation has been active in the region since the Nara period [ca. 710-794]. The wines of Kisvin are modern and yet restrained on the palate; the hard work of a single mother deeply invested in putting Japanese wine on the world map

Tasting Notes
Malolactic wines are wines that go through two separate fermentations the last of which converts tart-tasting malic acid to softer tasting lactic acid (think yogurt). This reserve Koshu is distinct from its young, stainless steel counterpart by being richer on the palate; it is rounder and creamier.
